

Self-care reflection

Psychological Self-Care

Activities that help you to feel clear-headed and able to intellectually engage with the professional challenges that are found in your work and personal life.

- Keep a reflective journal
- Engage with a non-work hobby
- Turn off your email and work phone outside of work hours
- Make time for relaxation
- Make time to engage with positive friends and family

Emotional Self-Care

Allowing yourself to safely experience your full range of emotions.

- Develop friendships that are supportive
- Write three good things that you did each day
- Play a sport and have a drink together after training
- Go to the movies or do something else you enjoy
- Meet with a social group
- Talk to a friend about how you are coping with work and life demands

Spiritual Self-Care

This involves having a sense of perspective beyond the day-to-day of life.

- Engage in reflective practices like meditation
- Go on bush walks
- Do yoga
- Reflect with a close friend for support

Relationship Self-Care

Is about maintaining healthy, supportive relationships, and ensuring you have diversity in your relationships so that you are not only connected to people at work but also in your personal life.

- Prioritise close relationships in your life e.g. with partners, family and children
- Attend the special events of your family and friends
- Arrive to work and leave on time every day

In creating a self-care plan it is important to ask yourself, “what might get in the way?” What can you do to remove these barriers? If you can’t remove them you might want to adjust your strategies. Think honestly about whether any of your strategies are negative and how you can adjust your plan to avoid or minimise their impact. It is important that your plan resonates for you.
