Ellen went into her cocoon
to change into her new self.
Time passed. Out she came.

Something felt different. She went to fly away but instead she rolled off into a bush.

Ellen rolled herself back into her cocoon.
Time passed. Out she came.

Something felt different. She tried to fly away but instead she just sat there and started ringing.

A stylized illustration of a tree branch with several green leaves. A brown, elongated cocoon hangs from the branch. The background is a solid light yellow color.

Ellen flipped herself back into her cocoon. Time passed. Out she came.

Something felt different. She tried to fly away but instead she nearly got eaten by a monkey.

Ellen went back into her cocoon. Time passed. Out she came.

Something felt different. She tried to fly away but instead she laid an egg.

Ellen waddled back into her cocoon.
Time passed. Out she came.

Something felt different. She tried to fly away, and she did!
